The Bloody Day's Work of the Renegade Redskins.

And Other Matters of Minor Importance Telegraphed The Gazette.

What is Being Done to Protect Our Fishermen.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The Post has the following Washington special: The state department is actively engaged in negotiations designed to protect the interests of American fishermen. There has as yet been no official declaration of its position for manifest reasons. While negotiations are in the present stage, the administration cannot properly make public the correspondence which it has had with the British minister here and with our minister to England, but an official letter from Secretary Bayard which follows will show he has the interests of the fishermen at heart. Senator Frye, of Maine, recently addressed the secretary of state the following letter:

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Hon. Thos. F. Bayard, Secretary of State.—Dear Sir: I respectfully submit to your consideration the enclosed telegram received this morning from the president of the American Fishery union. I assume that the state department is giving this matter such consideration as its importance demands. The urgency of immediate action for the protection and relief of these American citizens cannot be overestimated. I regard the conduct of the Canadian government as entirely unjustifiable and without authority of law. I am, very respectfully, W. F. FRYE.

Enclosed was a telegram already printed in these dispatches. To this letter Secretary Bayard sent the following reply:

Department of State, Washington, May 20. Hon. Wm. F. Frye, United States senator.—Dear Sir: Before your note of today was received, a telegram of similar import in relation to the refusal to allow the American schooner or Jennie and Julia to purchase herring for smoking at Digby, has been received and steps have been taken by me to ascertain all the facts, and instant representation had been made to the British minister to call to account the collector at Digby, for what I consider a gross breach of the commercial rights of the citizens of the United States. The late reprehensible action of the Canadian officers in relation to our fishing vessels, has occurred in remote localities without facilities for postal communication, and consequently there has been a regrettable delay, but unavoidable in respecting consular reports. But your assumption "That this department is giving the matter such consideration as its importance demands," I fully believe will be sustained when the proper time arrives for the publication of its action. I trust I am properly conscious of my delicate and important public functions and that the interests and honor of my country and the rights of her citizens will not be found to have suffered at my hands. Very respectfully yours, T. F. BAYARD.

Gentlemen who have talked with Secretary Bayard on this subject say he is much interested in the matter and says there is no politics in it. That the action of the department cannot be made public yet, but that he can assure any congressional friend of the fishermen that everything that is possible is being done to protect their interests. He said in regard to the refusal of the collector of customs at Digby to permit the captain of the Jennie and Julia to buy herring there to smoke that he had instructed Consul Puelin to go at once to Digby and investigate the matter.

The Myra Clark Gaines Suit.
NEW ORLEANS, May 22.—Judge Woods, in the United States circuit court, today rendered a decision refusing to grant the mandamus applied for by the heirs of Myra Clark Gaines, to compel the board of liquidation of the city debt to issue bonds to cover the judgment and costs obtained by Mrs. Gaines against the city of nearly two million dollars. The court holds that the Gaines judgment is not final.

The Apaches' Work.
TUCSON, ARIZ., May 22.—A Tombstone special says: A Mexican vaquero, just arrived, reports that the Indians attacked Juan Teller's Mountain Springs ranch, eighteen miles southeast of here, this morning, and carried off two Mexican boys, aged 9 and 12 years. The father and mother escaped by hiding in the neighboring gulch. It was believed that the Indians are heading for the San Pedro river, where they will endeavor to induce the peaceful Indians under Chief Eskiminzin to join them. The trail taken by the hostiles leads through a thickly settled region which has not been raided since the early white settlement of Arizona. Grave fears are entertained for the defenseless settlers and cowboys have been sent out from here and Fort Lowell to warn them. A party of volunteers, Americans and Mexicans, have started on the trail.

Killed by His Brother-in-Law.
DENVER, May 22.—A Loveland special to the News says: Peter Christian, a well-to-do Swede farmer, living four miles southeast of here, was fatally shot today by his brother-in-law, James Forbes, a boy of sixteen. It is alleged that Christian had been in the habit of frequently beating his wife, who is a very handsome American girl, until unable to bear his cruelty longer she applied for a divorce and took up her residence with her brother, living a short distance from her husband's home. Last night Christian went to the home of Forbes, and meeting him and Mrs. Christian in the yard made some threatening remarks to the boy, at the same time throwing his hand on his hip as though going to draw a revolver. Forbes, thinking Christian in earnest, drew a forty-five Colt's revolver and fired four shots, three of which took effect. Forbes was arrested.

A Pastor's Curious Views.
The New York Sun prints a curious story of a sensation caused in the Ellenville district of the New York Methodist Episcopal church by the circulation of the following document, issued by the authorities of the church at Ellenville, Wayne county, Pa., and signed by the leading members of the church, among them State Senator W. M. Nelson:

To the Rev. F. J. Belcher, Presiding Elder—Winnans, Pa. The Rev. J. Lee Gamble, who was appointed at the last session of the New York conference to be our pastor for the ensuing year, has informed us that he holds and preaches the following doctrine, as herewith stated in his own language, viz.:

First—That church buildings should be used only for religious worship, and never for lectures, fairs, festivals, entertainments, etc.—John, ii, 18, etc.
Second—That all church monies should be raised by direct, cheerful Christian giving, and not by parties, plays, suppers, fairs or entertainments of any kind; according to I Cor. xvi, 2; II Cor. ix, 7, etc.
Third—That in the matter of dress we should all conform to the spirit and the letter of the apostolic precept (I Tim. ii, 9-10; I Pet. iii, 3-5), and put away the wearing of gold and silver jewelry and superfluous apparel.
Fourth—That Christians should marry only with Christians, and never contrary to the literal interpretation of I Cor. vii, 39, and II Cor. vi, 14-15.
Fifth—That all Christians should come out and be separate from all secret, on-hound societies whatever name or object, according to Matt. v, 34-36; II Cor. vi, 14-15; John, xviii, 30; Jer. xvii, 5; John, iii, 30-31, etc.
Sixth—That the Bible shows that as full provision has been made for bodily sickness for sin, and that the prayer of faith will still heal the sick—James, v, 14-16; Mark, xvi, 17; Matt. ix, 18-17; Ex. xv, 26; Deut. xvi, 22-27, 28-31; Ps. cv, 37, etc.
Seventh—That we are living in the last days, that the world is growing worse, and the professing church more and more corrupt; that the Lord Jesus Christ will soon come in person, in flaming fire, taking vengeance on them that know not God and obey not the gospel, and to be glorified in His saints and admired in all them that believe, and to set up His own literal kingdom on the earth—II Tim. iii, 1-5; Matt. xiv, 30-32; Matt. xxiv, 1-3; Matt. vii, 21-23; II Pet. iii, 3-10; Rev. xix, 11-14.
And, Wm. H. H. Reed, in our judgment the preaching of the above doctrines would be detrimental to the interests of the church; therefore:

Resolved, That while we do not rebel against the decision of the New York conference, nor entertain any other than the kindest feelings toward Brother Gamble personally, we do respectfully state that, for the reasons given, his withdrawal from the pastorate of the Ellenville charge would meet with our approval.

A Great Marriage Mart.
Pall Mall Gazette.

A remarkable custom exists among the Roumanians living in the western Carpathians. Every year at the feast of the Apostles Peter and Paul, a market is held on the crest of the Gains, from 5,000 to 6,000 feet above the sea level and here all the marriageable girls of the entire district assemble with their parents in order to be viewed and claimed. Mothers, aunts, grandmothers and various female friends contribute to the dowry, and this completed it is carried to the market on the Gains in neatly made trunks, decorated with flowers and carried by the family's best horse. Cattle, bees and other household requisites are also added to the dowry. On the Gains every family which has a marriageable daughter occupies a distinct tent in which the brideviewers are expected. The bachelors, too, are accompanied by parents or relatives, in whose company they inspect the girls who are eligible. The young men bring the best they possess, and each must particularly come with a garland of gold or silver. After the brides are chosen the public betrothal takes place, being conducted by a hermit who lives in this lonely spot. The betrothal is not a ring, but a beautiful embroidered handkerchief.
